TWO BY-ELECTIONS SET FOR AUGUST 30

Writs Issued For Federal Contests in St. Antoine and Rimouski, Quebec

Some Election Talk in Ottawa, But Premier Has No Statement to Make

Ottawa, July 21.—Parliament will meet again in January unless something happens during the recess to prevent its being summoned, Premier King announced to-day.

Premier King added dryly that he had already said he was unable to give a pledge there would be no general election in the interval.

BY-ELECTIONS AUGUST 30
Ottawa, July 21.—Writs were issued to-day by the Chief Electoral Officer for the by-elections in the constituencies of St. Antoine and Rimouski. Nominations in the two constituencies will take place August 16 and polling day will be August 30.

The by-elections are the result of the resignations of W. G. Mitchell, Liberal member for the St. Antoine
Division of Montreal, and J. E.
S'Anjou, Liberal member for Rimouski, who has been appointed Provincial registrar for that county.

MINISTERS ON HOLIDAY
Members of the Government are scattering for a rest after the long and arduous session. Premier King is at his summer cottage on the Jatineau river, and other members of the Government, as far as possible,
are taking advantage of the respite.
It is not likely a meeting of the cabinet will be called for some days,
but important business lies ahead
before Parliament meets again.

ELECTION TALK
In some quarters there is a feeling that a general election is likely toward the end of the present session.
When questioned on the point during the session, Premier King said he could see no necessity for a general election at this time, but declined to give any promise that Parliament would not be dissolved during the recess.

LEOPOLD AND LOEB
NOW PLEAD GUILTY

Evidence on Murder of Young Franks to be Heard Wednesday

Sentence in Chicago May be Life Prison Term, Asylum
or Death

Chicago, July 21.—The fate of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, indicted for the kidnapping and murder of fourteen-year-old Robert Franks, was arrested to-day
"in the mercy of the court."

This resulted from a plea of guilty
made to-day in court by Clarence S.
Darrow, chief counsel for the boys,
and affirmed by them "after they had been duly warned by the court of the consequences of this plea."

The degree of punishment, which may vary from an indeterminate prison sentence to a life sentence in the penitentiary, incarceration in an asylum, or death, will be determined
after a hearing which is to start
Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

REPORTS CORRECT
In entering the plea of guilty Attorney Darrow said the defence admitted the correctness of the facts,
"substantially as printed in the newspapers."

He asked permission of the court,
however, "to offer evidence as to the mental condition of these young men and their degree of responsibility."

DECLARED SANE
The defence was willing to submit the question of mental irresponsibility to a jury of twelve men, and the State and the defence, but Robert Crown, State's attorney, objected to this, saying:

"The State is in a position to show these boys are not only guilty of the acts which they have admitted, but beyond any reasonable doubt they are sane and fully cognizant of the consequences of these acts."

Judge John R. Caverly agreed with the attorneys, but declined to hear such evidence as to facts and mental responsibility as the two sides might wish to present to him for his information.

SENTENCE SOON
Judge Caverly, realizing the grave responsibility which the sudden turn in the notorious case placed upon him, told the attorneys he would let nothing interfere with his speedy conclusion of the hearing as possible.

FIFTY-SEVEN JAPANESE SAILORS DROWNED WHEN FREIGHTER SANK IN TYPHOON NEAR GOTO ISLAND

Tokio, July 21.—Fifty-seven persons were drowned when the Nippon Yusen Kaisha freighter Matsu Cama Maru foundered off Goto Island, near Kyushu, July 11, according to a report received here to-day from the Kobe office of the company.

The freighter was an old vessel without radio and carried no passengers. The last port made by the vessel was Keelung, Formosa, from which she sailed for Yokohama July 9.

The ship carried down with her all her officers and crew except one fireman, who was picked up by a trawler and brought to Kobe. Her owners had vessels searching for her for several days along her regular route between Formosa and Japan.

The survivor said that a typhoon,
which the general unseaworthiness
of the ship rendered her unable to ride out, caused the disaster.

FOREIGNERS LESS SAFE IN CHINA

Newspaper Man Here Sent
Out First Story of Chinese Train Outrage

Conditions in China show little improvement, and travel in the interior for foreigners is accompanied with greater peril than ten years ago, according to passengers who arrived here on the liner President Grant yesterday morning.

Among those who arrived were John H. Nelson, for three years assistant United States trade commissioner in Shanghai, who has been transferred to the post of assistant chief of the division for the Far East in the Department of Commerce at Washington, D.C., and Larry Lehrbas, former city editor of The Shanghai Press.

Both agreed that the situation was far from encouraging and that there was growing up a distinct hostile sentiment to foreigners.
This sentiment finds expression in the heart of China, where brigandage is general. Mr. Lehrbas had special opportunity to test this matter out as he was one of the passengers captured in the sensational raid on the Tientsin-Pukow express in May, 1923.

OPENING OF BEER BARS ANYWHERE IS STRONGLY OPPOSED

No Mandate For Beer Sale,
Leading Interior Liberal Tells Government

Wants Liquor Free of Politics;
Victoria Vote 57 Per Cent
Against Beer

Whether any city or municipality in British Columbia will be allowed to open beer bars remained in doubt to-day while officials of the Provincial Secretary's Department started to complete the tally of beer plebiscite results from all over the Province. With the figures of Vancouver and a number of small places still outstanding, the provincial majority against beer
stood approximately at 1,000, 72,000
against beer and 71,000 in favor of it.

Final figures on the beer plebiscite in Victoria show that fifty-seven per cent of the total poll favored the present liquor system. The figures were as follows:

For beer—Vote on June 20, 5,346;
absentee vote, 247; total, 5,593.
Against beer—Vote on June 20,
7,370; absentee vote, 257; total, 7,627.
Rejected, 519 (52 absentee ballots).

A strong movement against the opening of beer bars anywhere in the Province, regardless of the local vote, is getting under way now. This movement found a spokesman to-day in Mayor J. H. Colley of Kamloops, newly-elected Liberal Member for that riding, who came out flatly against the sale of beer in licensed premises and in favor of the separation of the liquor administration from political influence.

NO MANDATE
"The vote in favor of beer in the Province generally has been large enough to form a mandate to the Government to change the present system," Mr. Colley declared, emphatically. "The Government, in fact,
has no warrant for embarking on a drastic change of policy like the open sale of beer. I am flatly opposed to any such change in any district, regardless of the local vote. I believe that before any such move is attempted there should be a substantial majority in favor of it. That majority was not forthcoming at the recent plebiscite."

"In opposing beer I believe that I have the interest of the Province behind me. The interior constituencies with which I am in close touch do not want beer."

WANTS EARLY REFORM
Mr. Colley is one of a number of members who believe that the administration of liquor should be

CREATION OF INDIAN
NAVY IS SUGGESTED

Recommendation of Indian Mercantile Marine Committee is Before Government

Protection of Harbors and Commerce of That Part of Empire Urged

Simla, July 21.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—The creation of an Indian navy capable of defending the coasts of India and protecting India's harbors and commerce is one of the interesting recommendations made in the report of the Indian Mercantile Marine Committee, which the Government of India is now considering.

The committee which consists of prominent Indians and British business men also recommends that government assistance should be given to Indian-managed ships in the way
of mail contracts and bounties.

The reports suggest that the Indian Government purchase ships from British lines, which eventually should be transferred to Indian owners approved by the Government.

Coasting licenses should be issued to those who undertake to employ a certain proportion of Indian seamen, the report further suggests,
but no licenses should be issued to foreign ships except those flying the British flag and those protected by treaty rights.

QUEBEC ROAD BUILDING
Berthier, Que., July 21.—Hon. J. L.
Perron, Minister of Health, speaking here, declared that but for the fact that the Provincial Government had spent $25,000,000 in road building
since 1920, farmers in Quebec would not have been able to carry on. He claimed the farmers paid only about seventeen per cent of the cost of maintenance of roads.

The matter was referred to the committee of the chamber drafting resolutions for presentation to the Island Board of Trade Convention at Courtenay next month.

GOLFER SERIOUSLY HURT BY REBOUND OF BALL FROM ROCK

Harry P. Johnson Has Unfortunate Experience at Oak Bay Links

Struck in the left eye when the ball he drove at the seventh hole on the Oak Bay golf links rebounded from a boulder yesterday afternoon, Harry P. Johnson, 1165 Newport Avenue, Oak Bay, was rushed by friends to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mr. Johnson was playing a round on the links and had reached the seventh, formerly the eight, a one-shot hole down a steep slope towards the clubhouse when the ball rebounded from a stone rising above the surface of the ground and struck Mr. Johnson with considerable force. The course at this point is strewn with boulders and has been the scene of more than one accident since the opening of the links.

Dr. Scott-Moncrieff attended Mr. Johnson and the injured golfer passed a fair night. The exact extent of the injury to the eye is not yet known, but the accident is regarded as a serious one by medical attendants.

SCOUTS HAVE TRIP ON ALBERT CANAL

Victoria Party Feted at All Centres in Up-Island Tour

Thirteen in a party sitting down to a meal is supposed to be unlucky, but it is the only evidence that the picked Victoria Scout patrol, now touring the island in cycles, can find in a rather frequent re-occurrence of punctures. The party, including eleven boys and two adults, left Victoria ten days ago on what will be a 300 miles circuit of island roads. En route to date the party has been feted and welcomed at every community by up-island Scouts and Guides.

In a communication to the Provincial Headquarters over the week-end, H. T. Ravenhill, Assistant District Commissioner and leader of the party, describes the warm welcome received at Alberni, Parksville, Nanaimo and Cassidy. The patrol visited Sproat and Great Central Lakes and then continued to Alberni and Port Alberni.

At Port Alberni they were met by W. N. Kelly and entertained. A trip down the Alberni Canal in the mail boat and dinner at the Somas Hotel were included in a busy programme. On Thursday the party set off for Nanaimo via Parksville, making the trip of forty-five miles in five hours. All arrived fit at the end of the long journey. Here a side trip to Cassidy was taken where a hand turned out to welcome the advent of the Victoria boys. A sumptuous feast was prepared by the Granby Women's Institute. After giving a demonstration of the Council Fire and other scout exercises the patrol returned to Nanaimo to billets.

The trip was undertaken with the dual object of making the acquaintance of up-island scouts and of giving in return demonstrations of the latest scouting practice. Its mission has been wonderfully successful, writes Mr. Ravenhill.

FLETCHER BROS. TO BROADCAST WITH HIGH POWERED SET

Local Firm Installs Radio Apparatus, and Plans Fine Programme

In the matter of radio broadcasting, one of Victoria's leading musical houses is planning a series of broadcasts from the Pacific Coast. Fletcher Brothers, well-known firm of deejay the musical instruments and requirements, has installed in its store on Douglas Street a high powered, broadcasting set from which Victorians and radio fans in neighboring cities will be treated with concert and miscellaneous programmes of a most attractive nature.

The set, with a few alterations and additions, is the same which was utilized by the Centennial Methodist Church, when Rev. Dr. Clem Davies was pastor of that institution, and arrangements have been made by Fletcher Brothers to use the set for an extended and indefinitely long period of time.

The firm plans to render through the other every day one of the finest programmes which any city on the coast can boast. It will be largely musical in its construction, but there will be many novelties and interesting feature items. Local talent will be enlisted to broadcast on various occasions. But it will not be the practice of the firm to have too many local artists heard without a change.

The station has not yet been named. It will not, however, be known by its old cognomen, CFCL. That station has now passed out of existence. The new broadcasting authorities will license a programme over the air which will be startling in its novelty and most attractive in every way.

The apparatus is not yet ready for use, although the finishing touches are being put upon the set. Aerial masts are in place merely awaiting the wiring. When all is complete the radio fans of Victoria will have a broadcasting station of which they may be justly proud.

FOUNDED TUTORIAL CORRESPONDENCE PLAN IN ENGLAND

Dr. William Briggs is on Visit to Island
Well-Known Educationist is Here From Old Country

The founder of the systematic tuition plan for higher education by correspondence in the Old Country, Dr. William Briggs of Cambridge, England, arrived at the Empress Hotel yesterday in company with Mrs. Briggs and proceeded up-island this morning.

He is the head of University Correspondence College, a well-established institution doing excellent work in preparing candidates for London University examinations. This gives an opportunity for students who from unfavorable circumstances are deprived of the advantage of oral instruction. The college is noted for the standard maintained by its highly qualified instructors, and vigorous administrative direction.

Dr. Briggs, who is a graduate of Jesus College, Cambridge, founded in 1887 University Correspondence College. He has also written and edited a number of textbooks for advanced students, prepared especially for the matriculation and graduation standards of the British universities; also conducting a printing establishment known as the University Tutorial Press. His purpose is to make available to the University Correspondence College. He has written much on copyright law, and on educational subjects.

He is a leading Freemason, a past grand treasurer of England, and prior of the East Anglia Order of the Temple, K.C.T.

Dr. Briggs left Southampton on July 2, has visited New York and Toronto, and is due in Montreal on August 17, joining the Empress of Scotland in Quebec on August 27.

KIDNES LEARN TO SWIM AT Y.M.C.A.

Big Class of Beginners in the Tank To-day Progress Quickly

There are almost thirty happy youngsters learning how to swim at the Y.M.C.A. today. They constitute the special private class for tuition in swimming, and are learning quickly under the supervision and personal instruction of Walter S. Maguire, physical director of the tank. Mr. Maguire reports unusually good progress with the boys, who are all tender in years, the majority being too young even to be members of the Y.M.C.A., but they take to the water like a family of ducklings, and are as perfectly at home there, after a few lessons, as the little feathered creatures.

This class is something of a novelty in this city. The Y.M.C.A. is in a fortunate position to be able to offer indoor tank courses for beginners, and makes the most of its opportunity to do public service. There is no reason, Mr. Maguire believes, why boys and girls should not be able to take care of themselves in the water, for any one of them is likely, at some time, to be called upon to save himself or others from difficulties and danger.

Consequently Mr. Maguire is devoting time and energy towards making the youngsters for days of healthful recreation to come and possible utility in instances where others are in danger of drowning. It is a commendable work, and the Y.M.C.A. is doing all in its power to encourage it.

FOUR CARS IN SAANICH ACCIDENT

Three Chinese Occupants Cut by Flying Glass in Traffic Tie-up

Four cars were involved in a peculiar accident on the East Saanich Road near Brentwood Cross Road yesterday at 4.15 o'clock, when several occupants were cut by flying glass. A car owned by Samuel Calvert, 1034 Princess Avenue, was parked at the west side of the road changing tires. Approaching from the south a car driven by D. R. Banfield, 165 Cowichan Avenue, was feeling its way by the first vehicle when a car and a truck driven by Chinese approached from the north the gap between the first two vehicles.

The leading Chinese car struck that of Mr. Banfield, which in turn was swung around until it struck the truck. A general mix-up followed in which several occupants of the Chinese vehicle were cut by flying glass. Three were removed to St. Joseph's Hospital for attention. Their injuries were not serious, however, and after dressing all were permitted to return to their homes.

The accident happened when the driver of the southbound vehicles failed to see the car approaching from the opposite direction and turned out at the same time to pass the truck. Two cars were slightly damaged.

CONFEREES FINDING RAILWAYS PROBLEM

counter-claim here is that if Germany adheres strictly to the principles of the report, it will never be necessary to invoke the extraordinary guarantees which France feels her safety demands that she should exact.

The British insist on a return to the old arrangements regarding the railways. This was in force for the occupied part of the Rhineland before the Ruhr occupation. By it power was conferred on the Inter-Allied Railway Commission to utilize troops in case of a strike or other difficulty.

INSTRUCTIONS AWAITED
The experts presented the conflicting views on railway control and others competent to use them to the committee. No. 1 of the conference, and are awaited fresh instructions how to proceed.

The progress made by the group of experts studying the restoration of German unity, indicated it would be possible to hold a plenary session to-morrow.

GERMAN REPRESENTATION
The German Government has communicated the British Foreign Office its latest views on the Dawes report and the question of German representation at the conference. The German representation will be presented at the next plenary session of the conference.

U.S. WILL ASSIST
London, July 21.—Assistance of the United States in necessary measures for the economic rehabilitation of Europe may be counted upon, Charles E. Hughes, Secretary of State of the Republic, said here to-night, speaking at a dinner of the Pilgrims.

"It does not matter that this aid is not given by the Government," Mr. Hughes continued. "I may give aid as my countryman, and we attempted to make the contribution of the United States to the recent plan of adjustment a governmental matter, we should have been involved in a hopeless debate and there would have been no adequate action."

"We should have been beset with demands, objections, instructions. That is not the way to make an American contribution to economic revival."

SEEK TO UNIFY ALL HISTORICAL ORGANIZATIONS

but later the question will be discussed fully by the British Columbia body.

Those who attended the meeting to-day as representatives of the British Columbia Association were: John Forsythe, Donald Fraser, Beaumont Boggs and Major F. B. Longstaff.

The aims and objects of the Canadian Historical Association were explained to the meeting in a carefully worded statement as follows:

"The Canadian Historical Association is still a very young organization, having been developed from the old Historic Landmark Association of Canada a couple of years ago. But youth is not a bad quality. It implies faith, hope, energy, and a fresh outlook. All these things we believe, are part of the equipment of the Canadian Historical Association, which on the other hand is not a public interest in history; to promote the preservation of historic sites and buildings, documents, relics and other significant heirlooms of the past; to publish historical studies and documents as circumstances may permit; to co-operate in every practicable way with provincial and local historical societies and other agencies working in the same general field."

"The association already counts between 400 and 500 members, drawn from every province in the Dominion, and some forty societies and other organizations are affiliated with the national association. The officers this year, other than the president are: Vice-president, Dr. Arthur G. Doughty; Dominion Archivist; Secretary-treasurer, Marius Barbeau; of the Archaeological Branch of the Geological Survey, and author of "Indian Days in the Rockies"; and J. F. Kennedy, Dominion Archivist; and the following additional members of the council: Prof. George M. Wrong of the University of Toronto; Peterborough Roy, Provincial Archivist of Quebec; Prof. Chester Martin of the University of Manitoba; Prof. Archibald MacKenzie of Dalhousie College, Halifax; Judge P. H. P. of the University of Western Ontario; and Prof. Basil Williams of McGill University.

HISTORICAL LECTURES
"Among a number of projects that the association has undertaken, one that is of very general interest is its scheme of outlining lectures in Canadian history. These outlines are designed to give high school teachers and others competent to use them all the necessary material for a lecture on the particular subject dealt with. Each lecture is being prepared by a well-known authority on the subject, and each will be accompanied by a set of lantern slides, the material for which is being found in the Dominion Archives and other collections of historical pictures. In the first list of lectures are found such subjects as the Fall of New France, the Red River Colony, Loyalists in Upper Canada, the Northwest Company, the Story of Halifax, the Siege of Louisbourg, the Founding of Montreal and the Siege of Quebec of 1759.

"Other projects that the association has in contemplation are a dictionary of Canadian History and a Canadian Historical Atlas. It is also interesting itself in the creation of a National Park at Bella Coola, on the Pacific coast, in memory of Alexander Mackenzie, the famous explorer, who first reached the Pacific at that point, and in the preservation of many important historic memorials in various parts of the country. The association was mainly responsible for the very successful celebration in Montreal, last November, of the centenary of the birth of Francis Parkman, the historian."

The United States Department of Commerce will open a new trade commissioner's office at Canton, Mr. Nelson stated, and he predicted that offices would be established at a later date at Hankow and Harbin. The first office was opened by the Department at Peking, and the second at Shanghai.

FIRST TO TELL STORY

Until recently, Mr. Lehrbas has been city editor of the China Press and Shanghai representative of the International News and Universal Service, but he has returned to America, Mr. Lehrbas will spend several months in New York City and Washington, D.C.

Happening to be a passenger on the elevated train that was attacked in May, 1923, by bandits in Lincheng, Mr. Lehrbas was captured along with about twenty other foreigners and a number of Chinese. The correspondent succeeded in escaping from his captors the second day and made his way to a cable station where he provided the service which he represents with an international newspaper "beat." Later he returned to the bandit camp with the rescue forces and remained there until the prisoners were released.

During the September earthquake, Mr. Lehrbas sent a number of stories of the disaster to America, before communications from Japan had been re-established and the ban on press dispatches lifted. At one time he became associated with the staff of the China Press. On his return to America, Mr. Lehrbas will spend several months in New York City and Washington, D.C.

but he avoided the rigors of the march to the mountains by escape within forty-eight hours of capture.

FOREIGN INFLUENCE

The view of the travelers is that foreign influence decreased with the Great War. The collapse of German and Austrian prestige in the Orient convinced the Chinese that Europe was divided against herself, and from that time the position of superiority affected by the foreigners in China has been impossible to maintain. In South China, it was pointed out considerable feeling had arisen in Yunnan, where French influence is strong, and some outbreaks might be expected. In other parts the reconstruction of China was proceeding slowly, and in many respects it was antagonistic to white rule.

SILK MARKET DULL

The silk market in China is unusually dull at present, Mr. Nelson said, due to the lack of demand at existing prices, only a few shipments being reported last month to Europe, India and America. Present conditions, he said, indicate a cocoon crop of better quality than last year and in equal quantity, 30,000 bales of steam flatures and 16,000 bales of tattee being the estimated crop that will be available for the Shanghai market. A good second crop is reported from Canton.

Mr. Nelson added that China's opportunity to increase her silk exports to the United States were depressed on the standardization of her product. "Thus far the Chinese have refused to standardize their raw silk and it is a question whether the improved production of artificial silk in the United States will not gradually supplant the Chinese product unless steps are taken by the Chinese silk

EMPIRE DEFENCE NEEDS URGED BY EARL OF CASSILLIS

Toronto, July 21.—"While we hope the Great War put an end to the possibility of all others, it is quite on the cards that one may break out between Japan and the United States. No one can tell how far it might spread and to what extent we might become involved, and while certain people for their own ends would like to see the British Empire disarm, we should be careful, if we do, that other people disarm more than we do," said the Earl of Cassillis in the course of an address at a luncheon given in his honor by the Toronto branch of the Navy League of Canada on Saturday.

The earl is president of the Glasgow branch of the Navy League and a prominent Scottish statesman who has been touring the Empire, making a private investigation of means of defence in case of war.

STRONG CONTEST IN EASTERN STATES

Democratic and Republican Forces Preparing; John W. Davis an Able Man

Washington, July 21 (Canadian Press)—Should John W. Davis, the nominee of the Democratic Party for the presidency of the United States, be successful in the election, this country may look forward to a broad-gauged foreign policy. This is the opinion of men best acquainted with Mr. Davis. He has had an unusual experience as a public man and has had the advantage of extensive diplomatic training. Not only was he Ambassador to Great Britain, where he made an excellent record, but he was also one of the right-hand men of President Wilson in important negotiations in the war period.

WAS SOLICITOR-GENERAL
In addition to this, Mr. Davis served in the House of Representatives and made a remarkable record as an advocate while Solicitor-General of the United States. As Solicitor-General, he ranked next to the Attorney-General and was the active law officer of the Department of Justice. In most of the great cases before the Supreme Court in which the Government was involved Mr. Davis, as Solicitor-General, presented the arguments for the Government. Besides, Mr. Davis was head of the American Bar Association and until he was nominated was connected with one of the foremost law firms of New York.

Such an experience, it is pointed out, ought to qualify an able man for the presidency and for handling the international affairs of that office in a broad way.

Mr. Davis believed the United States should enter the League of Nations. How far he will urge this if he becomes President cannot be said. However, he will undoubtedly support adherence to the World Court and his friends say he may be relied on to do everything in reason to help in clearing up the European situation. Good relations on the Western Continent, with Canada and with all of Latin America, are things Mr. Davis thoroughly believes in.

PLANS CHANGED

It is too early to tell whether Mr. Davis has a real chance of election. One thing which is certain is that the Republican leaders have decided to shift their plan of campaign to a considerable extent by reason of his nomination. They will pay much more attention than they intended to the campaign in the East. This is in recognition of the fact that Mr. Davis will make a great effort to win New York and New Jersey and a few other eastern states, and that he may prove to be strong there. As the South plus a few eastern states would bring him right up to the point of election, the Republican leaders recognize the need of precautions in the eastern territory. In short, they plan aggressive tactics in New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Illinois and other states in the eastern half of the country which Davis is expected to make a great drive to capture.

PAGEANT OF EMPIRE TO START ON FRIDAY

London, July 21 (Canadian Press Cable)—The Pageant of the Empire, which was due to open at Wembley to-day, has been postponed until Friday night, when Prince Arthur of Connaught, members of the Cabinet and representatives of the Dominions and India will attend.

The postponement is due to the council failing to obtain possession of the stadium in time to permit a full rehearsal, which is desired by the directors, and also to the enormous scale on which the pageant is being produced, at a cost of £100,000. Fifteen thousand performers will take part, and three nights will be required to produce the pageant in its entirety.

Duncan Presents Case To Commissioners for Changes in Education

Bible Reading, Obligatory Manual Training and Domestic Science Asked By Parent-Teachers' Association; School Board Makes Recommendations On Text Books, High School and Training of Teachers

Special to The Times

Duncan, July 21.—Dr. J. H. Putman, Senior Inspector of Schools, Ottawa, and Dr. G. M. Weir, Professor of Education, University of British Columbia, sat in Duncan on Friday afternoon and gave a most sympathetic hearing to the recommendations presented to them by the Parent-Teacher Association, the Duncan Consolidated School Board, and the Duncan City Council. Mrs. T. S. Ruffell, Rev. Bryce-Wallace, Mr. A. B. Thorp and Mr. A. W. Johnson appeared for the Parent-Teachers; Trustees Charles Bazett and O. T. Smythe for the Duncan Consolidated School Board, and in the unavoidable absence of the Mayor, Alderman Smythe appeared for the Council.

PARENT-TEACHER

Amongst other things the Parent-Teacher Association wished that manual training and domestic science should be made obligatory in cities of both first and second grade class. That the Bible be read in public schools, in suitable selections, and that one period a week be set aside for Bible study, but that this should be optional and non-sectarian. That the property qualification for school trustees be abolished, enabling all school taxpayers to be eligible.

ESSENTIALS

The Duncan Consolidated School Board's subjects were:

1. System.—The curriculum taught in our high schools appears to be prepared with the object of the university as the ultimate goal, and the curriculum in the low schools is apparently similarly prepared, having as its goal, the high school. Statistics show that not more than four per cent of the pupils who pass out of high school enter the university, and of this four per cent approximately one-half do not go beyond the first year of training. The result of this system is that the great mass of our school children leave school with an education that is not sufficiently far advanced in the educational essentials of every day life, while they have a smattering of non-essentials that are absolutely useless to them when it comes to fighting their way for their daily bread.

2. Age for Entrance into High School.—Pupils are advanced into the high school at too young an age, and also insufficiently grounded in these subjects which they are supposed to be proficient in before leaving the graded school.

ADDITIONAL TRAINING

3. Training Insufficient in Low Schools.—Suggested that one year's additional training be given in the low schools, and that the standard of entrance into high school be raised accordingly. At present in those parts of the province where high school facilities are not available, the child leaving the local public school or low school, does so insufficiently equipped with that knowledge which he or she should receive, and, up to some years ago, did receive in the common schools of the province.

4. Text Books.—Text books are changed far too frequently, very much to the detriment of the teachers, who find it difficult to keep up to date, and also to the pupils, more especially those in the higher grades. It is also expensive to parents and the public generally.

TEACHERS

5. Training of Teachers.—The present training of teachers does not go far enough. Some system of apprenticeship should be adopted. The embryo teacher takes what is called a year's training at the Normal School, in reality about eight months, during which period they are given (as far as that time allows) a good grounding in the theory of teaching combined with about two hours per week actual teaching experience under the supervision of a capable instructor. At the end of this period, all being well, these young people, the bulk of whom are about eighteen years of age, are given a second class teaching certificate, which is valid for "life." They are then free to go and teach anywhere in the province. Possibly they may get a school with a good class of children, all of whom are of first class Canadian or British stock, or they may find themselves with a class composed largely of Orientals, Doukhobours or some of the races from central Europe, whose knowledge of our language is very limited indeed.

The marvel is, not that the system is unsatisfactory, but that the teachers, so imperfectly trained as they are, should produce the results they do. In numbers of cases, the inspectors that are sent round by the Department feel they have no option but to put in an adverse report on some of these young teachers. In other words the very Department that issues the qualifying certificate to the teacher, is then forced to admit that in certain cases some of them are incapable of teaching.

LONGER TRAINING

The remedy, in the opinion of this board, is to give the would-be teacher a longer training. Before a "life" certificate is given them they should be required to have some actual teaching experience in one of our public schools. It could perhaps be made compulsory for every graded school, according to its size, to take on one, two or three of these young teachers who have taken the year's theoretical training at the Normal School, such supernumeraries to be in addition to the ordinary teaching staff and need not be paid more than sufficient to pay their board bill.

During this probationary period the probabilities are that those who had not the makings of a teacher in them, would find this out for themselves and would drop out voluntarily, while those who had not the sense to realize it would be weeded out by the inspector or the principal.

6. With regard to School Boards.—They suggest that one trustee out of every three be nominated by the mayor or reeve from among the elected aldermen or councillors. This should avoid any friction that might arise between local school boards and their respective municipal councils.

MORAL TRAINING

7. Church Teachings.—While the board is of opinion that every school should be given the right to facilitate moral training along the lines of manual training and organized outside sports, it is felt that it is not feasible or practicable to attempt to combine state education with church teachings. (All members of the board did not agree with this.) The board wished to go on record that any criticism made was leveled at the educational system of the province, and not at the Department or any of its officials. They held the view that the taxpayers of the province are receiving very valuable and efficient service from all of the personnel of the Department.

The question of taxation was gone into at length, many contending that the school tax should be levied on the householder as well as the property owner.

NOT FAR ENOUGH

PREMIER KING'S announcement on Saturday that steps would be taken to restrict the veto power of the Senate over legislation arising in the House of Commons will be heartily welcomed by the majority of the Canadian people as a move towards the conversion of the second chamber into a democratic institution.

The Premier intimates that rights and privileges respecting legislation originating in the House of Commons similar to those which went into force in Great Britain in 1911 in regard to the veto power of the House of Lords will be sought by the Government. Under the Parliament Act adopted in that year, following a general election in which this reform was the issue, any public bill, if passed by the House of Commons in three successive sessions and rejected each time by the House of Lords, may become law if royal assent is given, provided that two years have elapsed between the second reading in the first session and the third reading in the third session. Money bills do not require the concurrence of the House of Lords.

This would scarcely solve our Senate problem. It would enable the second chamber at Ottawa to hold up important measures for which there might be an immediate need for several years. For example, the House of Commons would have to pass the pensions bill or the C.N. extension bills in three consecutive sessions before they could be put into force. The Senate's suspending legislation passed by the popular House for three years would not be as bad as killing it altogether, but it would be bad enough to be entirely out of harmony with democratic government in this country.

There always will be conflict between our two Houses of Parliament until both have been put on an elective basis, that is, until Senators have been required to face the electors in periodical elections like members of the House of Commons have to do. If our Senators were responsible directly to the people, to whom they would have to appeal for political support in course of time, they never would have mutilated the pensions bill or thrown out the Canadian National branch lines bills passed by the House of Commons. But they have no such responsibility. They are appointed for life and, as the record has shown time and again, a majority of them can hark the wishes of the electors by nullifying legislation adopted in the elective House with the utmost indifference to public sentiment.

Australia has an elective senate. Three-fourths of the Senators of the Union of South Africa must go up for election by the people. New Zealand has had the appointment system with the term of each Senator at seven years, but is preparing to adopt the elective system. It is noteworthy that none of those Dominions saw any merit in that part of the Canadian constitution which concerned the Senate when they were forming their legislative system. They regarded it as too undemocratic for them. Let Canada have real Senate reform.

YOUTH'S TRIUMPH

ONE usually associates the winning of the King's Prize at Bisley with long experience of marksmanship and a keen professional atmosphere to which the contestant seldom accustoms himself until after many nerve-racking trials. This hitherto reasonable theory can now be dispensed with; a nineteen-year-old boy from Ottawa, who has been shooting for no more than three years, has won this highly coveted trophy at the age of nineteen.

Although the victory of young Private Burke is a triumph of youth over age and experience in the first place, it is equally significant and gratifying to the people of Canada because the honor has fallen to a son of this Dominion. His magnificent achievement is still further emphasized by the fact that he outdistanced Sergeant Fulton, an old hand at the game and a former winner of the King's Prize, who finished second in the contest with two points behind the Ottawa boy.

Youth in marksmanship, as well as in tests of skill in other branches of sport, insists that it be served from time to time. But it establishes no precedent and proves no special theory. J. H. Taylor recently led the field in the qualifying round of the British Open Golf Championship and was closely followed by another competitor who was in the nursery when the veteran "J.H." was winning premier laurels.

Nevertheless no argument can detract from the honor which young Private Burke has won. His aim was straight and he kept his nerve under conditions which have often shattered the hopes of men double his age and with ten times his experience. He has earned national congratulations.

COSTLY TALK

EVERY page of the Hansard report of the debates of Parliament costs between $50 and $60. The proceedings of the present Session at Ottawa, which was prorogued on Saturday, have consumed nearly 5,000 pages, so the total cost of the Hansard report this year will be between $250,000 and $300,000.

For weeks the Government has been trying to stem the torrent of talk which has been flowing from the floor of the House of Commons towards Mr. Speaker. Late hour sittings and sittings on holidays have been held in the hope of bringing about early prorogation, but this, instead of expediting business, expedited talk, especially from the loquacious so-called "ginger group" among the Progressives who recently broke away from the leadership of Mr. Forke, and a dozen or more Conservatives led by Sir Henry Drayton, the quality of whose speeches is invariably in inverse ratio to their quantity.

Perhaps our Parliamentary sessions would be shorter if the accommodation given members in the House of Commons and the Senate were less comfortable. If, for example, their desks were removed their speeches would be more brief and to the point, because it is in those desks that they keep the munitions of their forensic warfare—reference volumes, documents and publications of various kind from which they quote without stint.

In the British House of Commons members have to sit on benches, and, having no desks, they are unable to store up material in front of them for oratorical marathons. With no desk to lean upon, no fine comfortable chair to lounge in after he is finished, the average Canadian Parliamentarian would have to cut his remarks in two. If, however, the removal of desks and the substitution of benches for chairs did not solve the problem, then abolish the Hansard report. That would do the trick. Long-distance talkers would soon become short-distance sprinters if their remarks were not reported in full.

ECONOMY IN THIS

THAT section of the Ralston Report on Pensions and Re-establishment which deals with the tuberculous veteran should commend itself to the people of this country generally. No healthy person in Canada would quarrel with an arrangement which would permit a T.B. patient to be discharged from institutional care after twelve months, with one hundred per cent. pension for two years afterwards, and no reduction of pension of more than twenty per cent. half yearly.

Such a plan would mean that a tuberculous subject would be permitted to remain in the environment in which his treatment had been a success until such time as his medical adviser could promise immunity from a recurrence if he should once more return to conditions which he left before his army service. If in two years medical advice were opposed to a change of scene and conditions, it is feasible that the doubt then confirmed would have established itself early enough in the intervening period to encourage the patient to find sufficient means of livelihood, in the same locality, to maintain himself and family either indefinitely or until his case completely cleared up.

The point made by the Commission, however, is that there is economy in a policy which gives the T.B. a real chance to shake off the complaint altogether. Any arrangement short of this simply means that the patient patches himself up to the point at which he is termed an arrested case; as such he goes back to conditions for which he is not yet fit, and eventually returns to institutional care, with a miserable prospect for himself and more cost to the state.

Leopold and Loeb have pleaded guilty of the kidnapping and murder of young Franks. This simplifies matters for the State.

The reputation of Victoria as a holiday resort seems to have made an impression upon the people of California if the presence here of hundreds of automobiles from that State means anything.

Progress towards a settlement of Europe's difficulties seems to have been made at the inter-Allied Conference in London. However, it would be best to touch wood until something tangible emerges from the discussions.

John Bull might tot up his accounts against a number of the Allies and remind their representatives about them while the gentlemen who are assembled at the Reparations Conference are discussing the way to get into the German till.

TRADE WITH ENGLAND

From The Irish Times

The greatest market in the world lies at our doorstep; yet we continue to treat it with a sort of proprietary contempt. We waste our money in trying to cajole other countries to trade with us, whereas all they want is to use the Free State as a convenient "dumping" ground for the goods which they are unable to sell to England.

ONE WITH A SONG

He sings; and his song is heard,
Pure as a joyous prayer,
Because he sings of the simple things—
The fields and the open air,
The orchard bough and the meadowbird,
And the blossoms everywhere.

He sings of a wealth we hold
In common ownership,
The wildwood nook and the laugh of the brook,
And the dewdrop's drip and drin,
The love of the lily's heart of gold,
And the kiss of the rose's lip.

The universal heart
Leans listening to his lay,
That sings and gleams with the glimmering dreams
Of children at their play—
A lay as rich with unconscious art,
As the first song birds of May.

Steadfastly, bravely glad,
Above all earthly cares,
He lifts his line to heights divine,
And sings, ever pure—
This is a better world than had,
God's love is limitless.

Dr. Frank Crane on
"Thinkers and Politics"

(Copyright)

A LITTLE book by Henri Barbusse called, "The Knife Between the Teeth," is a plea for international communism.

As an argument it is not convincing. In fact, it is not an argument so much as an impassioned appeal.

But in the first part of the book he says some things in regard to the duty of intellectuals in politics which are striking. Very often what a man says, by the way, is much more interesting and convincing than the gist of his preachment.

He tells us that most people, with the intellectuals at their head, affect to despise politics. They regard politics as a field particularly full of offensive vulgarities.

In the present time and under the present conditions, where the struggle between right and wrong is waging, he considers that this attitude is vicious, that it is a sign of aristocratic myopia, or, rather, a pretext easily explainable but little excusable, to remain comfortably hidden from the rough and tumble of life amidst clouds and phrases.

The tricks, the pettiness, the sordidness, the dull and narrow passions of politics are but scattered instances, and to build upon them the generalization that politics is an essential evil is an "infantile sophism unworthy of intelligence."

He proceeds then to give us some very burning words of exhortation and of warning, in a passage that is almost a classic.

"If the living world is to achieve a better order, or if it is to remain where it is, the matter must be effected by political measures, and all words and ideas are of no avail. To act politically is to pass from dreams to things, from the abstract to the concrete."

"Politics is the effective working out of social thought; politics is life."

"If we admit a sort of connection between theory and practice, we must take our part in political life."

"To leave the men of practical politics alone in their efforts, even if we do so with an amiable neutrality, and to say that we will have no dealings with those men, this is to abandon the cause of humanity."

Founder of British Institutions in Upper Canada

COLONEL JOHN GRAVES SIMCOE was present in Upper Canada, now Ontario, as the Lieutenant-Governor for only four years, 1792 to 1796. Yet in that period his energetic personality so impressed the Province with the ideas of British government that it still retains the indelible stamp. He was a young man, forty years of age, when he entered on his command, but he had seen considerable service as Major commanding a cavalry regiment, the Queen's Rangers, in the War of the American Revolution, service which gave him an admiration for the loyalists, had caused him to think deeply on the reasons for the whole trouble, and had determined him to work heart and soul for the establishment of an empire spirit resting on purely British institutions. Towards the end of his term of office he wrote to the Duke of Portland in the British Cabinet a statement of his policy:

"I have therefore endeavored to establish the forms as well as the spirit of the British Constitution by modelling all the minutest branches of the Executive Government after a similar system and by aiming as far as possible to turn the views of His Majesty's Subjects from any animosity against the loyalists, and to direct the attention to the various modes and customs of the several Provinces from which they emigrate, as the sole and primary Object of general and particular imitation."

Colonel Simcoe was comparatively young and very enthusiastic. The Governor-General, Lord Dorchester, who, as Sir Guy Carleton, had defended Quebec so brilliantly against the rebel American invasion in 1775 and 1776, was elderly, experienced, and from his long management of the affairs of the difficult and precarious colony, had the whole British situation in America always before his eyes. He had disapproved Simcoe's appointment, though he knew him to be a gallant and efficient army officer, for he had recommended Sir John Johnson, the position. Sir John Johnson, as Dorchester thought then and as it appears to us to-day, would have been an ideal first governor for the new Province of Upper Canada which was just being set apart as separate from Quebec or Lower Canada by the Constitutional Act of 1791. Sir John was the son of the great Sir William Johnson, the remarkable Irishman who had obtained complete domination of the Iroquois confederacy and had been such a powerful assistance in the campaigns of the Seven Years' War against the French in Canada. Sir John had raised a regiment, the King's Royal New York Regiment, and had served throughout the war. He had also headed the Indian allies of the Crown forces. The family estates in the valley of the Mohawk River in the present State of New York, built up with so much care and pride by his father, had all been lost from the moment he had openly declared for the King. He was now an exile living near Montreal. He knew the Loyalist refugees and was himself, he knew their social and political background. Dorchester could see how they would have welcomed him as a Governor from among themselves, one of the most distinguished of themselves. The British Cabinet, however, decided against Sir John, because, forsooth, his private interests were too great and might interfere with his official attitude.

So Colonel Simcoe, who as a member of Parliament had taken a prominent part in the debates on the Constitutional Act, was appointed. He made an excellent and memorable founder of British institutions in Upper Canada. However, from the time that he assumed his authority, he and his superior officer, Lord Dorchester, were at loggerheads on practically every important point of policy. Simcoe wished to distribute garrisons at favorable spots throughout the length of Upper Canada, believing that inevitably, if the situation were strategic, there would spring up about the garrison as a nucleus a thriving town. Dorchester felt that this policy would weaken defence by dissipating military strength, would give opportunity for financial and contracting extravagance and even corruption, would foster a spirit of dependence in the settlers, and finally would not attain the desired end, inasmuch as towns would grow where and when commercial necessity dictated without reference to arbitrary stationing of troops.

Colonel Simcoe seemed, moreover, to slight his chief in making appointments without consulting him and in corresponding over his head directly with the Home authorities, who up to that time had been his superiors. There were many other vital subjects of disagreement, and both men, almost simultaneously, asked leave to resign. Almost simultaneously too, they started for England, never to return to Canada.

PAINS IN THE BACK,
LUMBAGO, ETC.

To the Editor—These unpleasant ailments can so easily be contracted, especially in Summer time. All one has to do is, when nice and warm—perhaps in a mild state of perspiration—to hop into a street car, and the chances are that a beautiful cold breeze will be experienced blowing in the small of one's back.

If the B.C.E.R. Co. had these windows made to open at the top instead of the bottom, and a different contraption for adjusting the windows to what they have at present, I am sure it would be a change for the better.

The present arrangements may mean good business for undertakers, vendors of gin pills and patent medicines, but I feel certain that the general public would far rather experience a zephyr breeze from above than a wicked blast from below.

THE ISLAND'S NAME

To the Editor—Apropos of the proposed change of name of Vancouver Island it would be interesting to hear from settlers of recent enough date to remember how they first learned our local geography. Here is my experience. During the thirteen years I was at school and the university in England I was rated as having an extra good fund of general knowledge, including that of geography. I mention this to show that I was not an exceptionally ignorant duffer. In 1912, when I was thirty-five years of age, a friend who was in business in Vancouver remarked to me that he should probably have to go to British Columbia. I vaguely connected the name with a hot spot in Central America and was sorry for him. Soon afterwards I noticed a window display of red apples in Whitehall. It bore a card saying that they were from British Columbia. I entered what, as far as I remember, was a Dominion Government information bureau, and on asking where British Columbia was, was referred to the Agent-General for the Province, in Finsbury Circus. As I had sometimes vaguely thought of emigrating to "the Colonies" I followed up the quest. I was given literature descriptive of fruit growing and advised if possible to go out and see things for myself before deciding to make a change. From said literature I gathered vaguely that Vancouver was in B.C. but I was not impressed by the difference between the city and the Island. I had heard of Vancouver because I had once addressed a letter to a relation there en route home from Australia. I also knew a man who had gone to live there. Some months after it happened that a job was offered to me and undertaken by me which involved a journey to Golden, B.C. As I was going so far I booked to Vancouver with the idea of looking up my friend the Queen. It was not worth the trip across at this time of year. The month was February. Later he took me to a window of an office building and pointed out the mountains across the Gulf. I got no idea of the size or importance of "the Island," but imagined that it was a Summer resort such as Bowen Island. I went home rather proud of my knowledge, cleaned on the spot, that Vancouver City was not the same as Vancouver Island. The following Summer (1913) I came back with my family and took a look at Victoria. One day here convinced me that it was the place for me and we are glad to be here still.

I believe that if our Island had a less confusing name and further that if a descriptive folder had been placed in my room on the steamer on that first trip out I should have gone home better prepared to advertise its attractions. A new name, if one is to be adopted, should suggest the size of the Island.

Many Prizes Are Brought Home By Victoria Oarsmen

Won Two Junior and One 140-Pound Event as Well as Four Seconds

San Francisco Crew Won the Senior Fours; Coach O'Sullivan Satisfied

"I am quite satisfied with the results as our crews did as well as I expected," declared Dan O'Sullivan, coach of the J.V.A.A. on his return yesterday from Port Moody, where the annual regatta of the N.P.A.A.O. was held.

Vancouver failed to repeat the clean-up they made at the regatta at Shawinigan Lake last year. Victoria was unplaced in every event at Shawinigan, but in the regatta at Port Moody they won three firsts as well as four seconds.

The competition this year was mainly between Victoria and Vancouver. Portland, having but two crews present, the San Francisco crew won the senior fours, which rowed in the senior fours had no trouble in winning this race, none of the northern crews being able to keep pace with them. It is the same crew which the Vancouver crew, which went to the Olympic games, defeated at the Coast title last year for the Coast title. Although the Golden Gate crew won the senior race it did not have the honor of taking first place among the N.P.A.A.O. clubs, due to the fact that it is not affiliated with that body. The Americans took the Province Cup, emblematic of the Coast title, while Vancouver, which rowed second, captured the N.P.A.A.O. honors.

Victoria's victories were scored in the junior doubles and fours and the 140-pound fives. The Vancouver "backweights," or 140-pounders, were ruled out because they were overweight. Victoria has held the "backweight" honors for many years. Last summer at Shawinigan they were beaten by Vancouver in a close race, but that was the only break in a long list of victories.

The four-oared senior race at Port Moody was one of the prettiest sights seen in rowing circles in the North for some time. Six crews started and the race was well contested. The participants finishing first, Vancouver second and Victoria third.

KINGSLEY A WINNER
In the other events George Kingsley won the single sculls from Hugh Fletcher easily in 10:22.2. Kingsley won the senior doubles from MacLachlan and Riddell of Victoria in 9:07.2-4 minutes. Victoria's 140-pound crew won the title in their class from Portland, the only other competitor, in 5:52.5.

In the lapetank race between two Vancouver crews and two Victoria crews, Victoria won with a grand final spurt that carried it over the finish line three lengths ahead of the nearest Vancouver crew. One of the Vancouver crews experienced troubles in midstream and fell far behind.

Vancouver won the grand aggregate with 26 points on six firsts, three seconds and two thirds. Victoria was second with 18 points on three firsts, four seconds and one third. Portland was third with four points on two seconds.

Cumberland Held To Draw By Best Team In Winnipeg

Second Game For Western Finalists in Connaught Cup Series To-night

Winnipeg, July 21.—Playing typical cup-the football, United Western, Manitoba representatives, held the strong Cumberland team, champions of British Columbia, to a scoreless draw in the first game of a two-game series for the right to enter the Connaught cup finals here Saturday.

The second game will be played to-night.

A downpour of rain just prior to the match made good playing impossible, but it was a hard fought contest, and a draw was a fair indication of how the play went.

Weston had many golden opportunities to score but erratic shooting prevented them from gaining a lead to take into the final game. The only real shot that Cumberland had came five minutes from time, when "Billy" Milligan sent a hard drive which Derby saved. The visiting forwards played a neat game, but lack of finish around the nets prevented a score.

MINERS OPENED STRONG
Cumberland opened strong in the first ten minutes of play and backed Western into their own territory but after this, Weston settled down and had their share of the exchanges. In the first half Derby had only one shot to stop, in the opening period, while Blair was called upon to stop several hard drives.

The Westerners again opened strong in the final half but Weston held them in check and in the closing stages of the match were pressing hard.

The lineup: Cumberland—Blair Ackroyd, Stewart, Monaghan, Conti, Bakers, Milligan, Graham, Turner, Banner.

Weston—Ed. Derby, D. King, A. King, Foxon, Matthews, McNeil, Lang, J. Derby, McKenzie, Clarke and Grant.

Fort William, July 21.—In a football match here on Saturday to determine the team to go into the Connaught Cup finals, Montreal Exploives defeated Fort William Celtic Pacific by the score of one to nil.

Paris, July 21.—Notwithstanding the rival attractions of Olympic swimming, tennis and gymnastics, 25,000 Parisians to-day assembled in the Parc des Princes Stadium to see the end of the classic cycle race around France. Thousands also watched the passage of the racers through the suburbs. Of the 157 competitors who started from Paris on June 22, sixty finished, having covered the 3,000 miles over the mountains, valleys and plains. The winner was the Italian, Botteche, whose time was 23 hours 15 minutes and 21 seconds. He led at every stage of the long race.

Olympic Stadium, Colombia, July 21.—The two young tennis stars from the United States, Miss Helen Wills and Vincent Richards, captured the Olympic singles crowns yesterday, and clinched another international team triumph for the United States.

Miss Wills decisively vanquished Mile. Emilienne Vlasto in the women's final, 6-2, 6-2, but Richards was forced to battle through a hard five-set match under boiling sun to take the measure of his young French rival, Henri Cochet, 6-3, 6-4, 6-7, 4-6, 6-5 for men's title.

A crowd of more than 3,000, sweltering under the torrid heat, was stirred to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the contest.

THREE TITLES FOR U.S.
The double victory gave the United States the third straight Olympic net triumph for the United States.

The broken record was largely due to a sprint of Charles W. Paddock, of Los Angeles, in the third 100 yards, and to a tremendous burst of speed by Alfred Leconey, of Philadelphia, who beat the British sprinter, Harold Abrahams, to the tape after the latter had badly fumbled in taking the baton from the previous British runner.

LIDDELL RUNS WELL
This gave the spectators an idea of something good to expect of the Brits. Liddell, who was the Union Jack was hoisted at the conclusion of the mile relay, signifying that they had won the prize.

The three-mile relay was won by the Americans, who were the favorites. The top score of 344 in the Grand Aggregate was made by Q.M.S. I. A. Bacon, of the Royal Marines, who was won by R.M.S. Maiton, of the Small Arms School.

Major Rankin, late of the Royal Scots, winning 24 out of a possible 75, won the St. George's Challenge Vase, also the Dragon Cup, Gold Cross and £10 which go to the winner.

STALLARD PULLS OUT
The Americans looked like easy winners in the two-mile relay, and were ahead until a half-furlong from home, when H. B. Steward, of Cambridge, who had appeared to have something in hand, overhauled S. C. Enck, Penn State, and registered Great Britain's second victory.

The three-mile team race went to Great Britain, although V. H. Booth, Johns Hopkins, was the first home and John Roper, Penn State, was fourth. The Brits had men in second, third, fifth and sixth places and won on points.

The four-mile relay was the most gruelling race. The team which won, each mile by the narrowest margin, the last mile proving the fastest at four minutes twenty-five seconds. The team was composed of A. C. broke the tape three yards ahead of B. MacDonald.

American Athletes Win Special Meet With British Team

Thrilling Track and Field Meet Staged at London; Spectacular Running

London, July 21.—The stay-at-home Brits and the Americans who were unable to go to Paris to witness the Olympic games on Saturday watched a miniature version of those games at Stamford Bridge when the pick of the United States and British Empire teams which competed in Paris, came together in a series of track and field events which resulted in a victory for the Americans.

Before the athletic events began the two teams paraded around the field, the Americans in running gear and the British in their national colors. The Americans were led by a mighty ovation from the 40,000 spectators. The Brits followed in blazers, straw hats and trousers.

The result of the first event, the 400-yard relay, saw the Stars and Stripes hoisted to the top of the world's record for the distance by 1-5 seconds.

The broken record was largely due to a sprint of Charles W. Paddock, of Los Angeles, in the third 100 yards, and to a tremendous burst of speed by Alfred Leconey, of Philadelphia, who beat the British sprinter, Harold Abrahams, to the tape after the latter had badly fumbled in taking the baton from the previous British runner.

Vancouver, July 21.—The Vancouver club cleaned up in the British Columbia Bowling Association annual championships which took place during the past week by winning every one of the events with the exception of the Novice, which went to Frank Wilmer of Marpole. At the conclusion of the game both players were given a hearty hand by all spectators present. Cardwell scored the last three ends to win.

Spencers Clash With Hillcrests in Rithet Cup Series To-night

To-night at the Royal Athletic Park Hillcrests and Spencers will clash in the first game of the Rithet cup baseball series. The game will be called at 6:30 o'clock sharp. As a result of the Civil Service dropping out of the series, the game of the week will clash with the Native Sons of Canada for the championship. At present the Sons hold the cup, and should they win it again this year it will be their's permanently.

Spencer's will have a strong team out and their star hurler Jack Stewart will be on the mound. The departmentals have lined up Haley Jackson, Harry Copas and Roy Copas to use in the series. With these three men strengthening the team Spencer's figured they have a fine chance of coping the cup.

Very little is known about the Hillcrests as they are the dark horses of the league. The old veteran Alex. Potts is at the head of the team and he claims to have a strong team lined up.

St. Louis Cards Lose After Winning Seventh Straight; Giants Beaten
Cincinnati, July 21.—Bunching five straight hits and scoring three runs off Ryan in the seventh, Cincinnati won the first game of the series from New York yesterday 5 to 2. Boston allowed only one man to pass the base until the ninth when three straight hits brook Rixey to the rescue. The latter retired the side, completing his third straight consecutive inning without being scored against.

Local All-Stars Victorious in a Listless Battle

Scored Easy Win Over Anacortes Nine; Malcom Pitched Great Ball For Locals

In one of the slowest games of the season the local All-Star ball team trounced Anacortes 15-2 at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday. A big crowd that has attended an amateur game here for some time was on hand to witness the battle. The visitors had an off day in the field, and no less than twelve errors were chalked up against them.

Malcom, who pitched for the locals, was in great form and allowed the visiting batsmen five scattered hits, while the same number struck the air for three. He was never in trouble, and had the game in his hand from the start. Francis, who was in the box for the Americans, pitched a fair brand of ball, but the support given him by his teammates was heart-breaking. He struck out seven batters, but the Victoria wrecking crew gathered thirteen safeties-off his delivery.

C.P.R. AWAY IN A HURRY
The All-Stars got away in the first inning and three hits, coupled with two errors, allowed five runs to cross the rubber. Anacortes came back with three hits off Francis, but Wiggins and Mondham drove in two runs.

DEPRECATES PESSIMISM

Rev. Dr. Clem Davies spoke to the Gyro Club to-day and offered some suggestions for club activity and gave words of counsel and advice. He said that there was need for a spirit
in clubs which would bring activity
without the want of recognition.
There was need of greater loyalty
between the members, he stated. Dr.
Davies also touched on the matter of pessimism, which should not be present in a community which boasted the advantages of Victoria.
Leon Conyers was the soloist and his numbers were very much ap-

NEWS IN BRIEF

The regular meeting of the Esquimalt Council takes place at 8 o'clock to-night at the Municipal Hall. Matters of a routine nature are up for consideration.

A long list of cases in the Saanich
Police Court to-day was removed without hearing for trial on Wednesday morning, due to congestion of business in the City Police Court.

A welcome to J. W. Spencer on his return to Victoria after his European trip was extended by the Chamber of Commerce directors to-day. Mr.
Spencer attended his first meeting of the directors since his return home.

"I guess it's right; I don't remember much about last night," was the answer of Russell Darling, charged in city police court with being intoxicated while in charge of a car.
The plea was taken as one of not guilty, and trial set for Tuesday.

Paying his fine in advance rather than miss passage on a boat on which he acts as a member of the crew, Johnson Halliday left $25 with the city police to-day, which was later paid into court as the amount of his fine on a charge of being drunk
in public.

An appeal for members of the chamber to send in views on education in British Columbia is made by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce on the Educational Survey. B. C. Nicholas, vice-president, announced the notice given by the committee has been too short for it to appear before the commissioners
but it sought to obtain views so they could be presented at a later date.

Allen W. Otis, a prominent artist of Santa Barbara, California, is visiting this city on route to Lake Louise,
where he will paint some pictures
which will later be entered in art exhibitions in the East. Mr. Otis is from New York originally, but has chosen to make his home in the West.
He has also to exhibit some commissions for private interests, and has orders from several collectors which he will fill while he is in Canada. He plans to spend about a month at Lake Louise and will then visit other parts of the Province.
Mrs. Otis is traveling with him.

Secrets Revealed

The Discovery of Electricity

LIFE! DISEASE! DEATH!

Electricity reveals the fact that matter in motion is life. That which has lost its normal rate of motion is disease, or death.

This basic fact the world's greatest scientists admit.

Minute nerves, terminating in the brain or eye, intercept atomic vibrations, and the brain is electrically charged by the atmosphere. The brain in turn delivers its energy to the muscles via the motor nervous system, where it again passes back to the atmosphere.

It matters not what enters the brain or eye, it must in turn pass out through specific exits—this fact no scientist can refute. It means then that the human body is but an electro-chemical machine.

Our Dr. Jordan recognized this fact years ago. He set to work to develop and perfect a system, which of necessity had to be different, in principle and practice, from all systems based on the old conception
that disease has its origin in bacteria.

Recognize the fundamental fact that you are part of the universe
and you will recognize that you are a part of nature. Nature intends you to be healthy, and health depends upon the correct reception and utilization of nature's force—energy.

After one week of our treatment, one patient says:
"I'm going to cheat the grave."

Another says: "I know now that I am going to get better."

Still another says: "I am on the right track at last."
—and so it goes.

sults! Because the System Adopts

the Universe, and Applies It for the Eradication of Human Disease.

PENINSULA NEEDS WATER EXTENSION

Saanich District Would Then Become Populated, Says David Leeming

The solution of the populating of the Saanich peninsula rests upon supply which Victoria with a $2,600,000 investment to bring water
from Sooke Lake to Humpback Reservoir and to the Fountain at Sooke to provide, ex-Alderman David Leeming asserted at the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce today. The extension of water would bring prosperity to the district,
and to support his arguments he pointed out that the district was ready to be a water supply as being the most thickly populated. Mr. Leeming's suggestions were listened to with interest, and it was decided to put the matter on the agenda for discussion
at a future meeting to which Saanich residents will be invited.

Traffic on the suburban line was discussed, A. T. Goward stating that generally throughout Canada there was a loss on interurban lines, and the B.C. Electric Railway with similar companies was paying the price for the fast growing popularity of automobile traffic and good roads.

IS SLATED FOR MARSHAL OF THE ADMIRALTY COURT

SHERIFF H. W. GOGGIN

Vancouver, July 21.—Indications are that Sheriff H. W. Goggin of Victoria will be appointed Admiralty
Court Marshal in succession to F. G.
Richards, ex-sheriff and present incumbent of the office.

An agitation was afoot to divide
the Province into several admiralty court districts, but this will not be put into effect at the present time,
and the jurisdiction will remain as it now is with headquarters in Victoria.

It is understood that Sheriff H. W.
Goggin will succeed Mr. Richards.
The duties of the admiralty court on the lower mainland will be performed by Sheriff Charles Mac-Donald, who will be reappointed to his former office of deputy marshal.

WANT WILLIAM HEAD CALL ELIMINATED

Chamber of Commerce Dis- cusses Proposal Made by Vancouver

Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors this afternoon discussed the suggestions emanating from Vancouver that ships be permitted to anchor in the harbor for Vancouver without waiting at William Head for particulars. A news item in The Times of July 15 stated that Dr. J. A.
Amyot, Deputy Minister of Health, and J. D. Pudge, chief quarantine Officer, had arrived in Vancouver and one of the matters they would discuss would be that of affording to the port of Vancouver better quarantine facilities. The station at William Head was eighty miles from Vancouver and the suggestion that it be passed upon was made by the Vancouver Board of Trade, the Federation of Shippers and the Merchants' Exchange.

TO AVOID DELAY

George I. Warren, managing secretary, said he had communicated with the Vancouver Board of Trade and the Vancouver Board of Health, and had suggested that rather than have a duplication of officials it would be better to co-operate to have the offices at William Head open for the purpose of affording better quarantine facilities.

There was no more direct way to Vancouver from the ocean than the William Head route, said George Mc-Gregor. There was no other place to go.
The station was the best equipped station on the Coast, and British Columbia was fortunate enough to have such a station. Boats otherwise would have to go into Vancouver harbor before obtaining pratique, and the danger of smallpox the damage
would then be done.

A committee was appointed to get in touch with the Vancouver Board of Trade.

RAINS HALT FIRES

IN B.C. FORESTS; PROVINCE 'NORMAL'

General rains all over the Province have greatly relieved the forest fire situation which was causing forestry officials
the keenest anxiety up to a few days ago, according to the weekly bulletin of the Forest Branch of the Lands Department, issued to-day.

So far this year 1,212 forest fires have been reported in all parts of the Province. This is a big increase over last year when, up to this time, 165 outbreaks had been reported.
The situation, however, was more serious in 1922 when 1,386 fires had occurred in a corresponding period.
The situation in every district was reported to-day as being normal for the first time for many weeks. So far there have been ninety-five fires in Cariboo, 146 in Kamloops, 112 in Kootenai, 217 in Nelson, 149 in Prince George, 115 in Prince Rupert, 293 in Vancouver, including Vancouver Island, and ninety-one in Vernon.

BOATMEN SCATTER WHEN WHALES ARE HUNTING LUNCHEON

Killer Whales Invade Brent- wood Waters; Big Salmon Run Reported

Consternation reigned in the waters of Finlayson Arm and in the neighborhood of Brentwood Bay on Sunday, when among the many small boats in the inlet, a school of what appeared to be well over 100
killer whales suddenly appeared,
blowing and churning the water as they came rapidly into harbor.
Straight up the inlet came the invading horde, and before them fled in terror an armada of launches and row boats.

There are many places of refuge
along the coast of the Saanich Inlet.
All were crowded. Men and women scattered still left upon the water.
Pandemonium reigned, and the whales drew nearer.

Then, from out of the shelter and shade of Mackenzie Bay came a small white launch. It was a rower, with a churning wake behind,
and salmon lines stretched out over the stern. It had two occupants, its course lay in the direction of the oncoming whales, and it was wide view, fair in the course of the little boat. The launch kept on and the whales did not falter.

People on the shore did not appear to know what was about to happen.
They stood staring. As the boat and school of sea monsters neared one another a moan went up from the throats of the watchers. Eyes wide in amazement and anxiety the timid landmen watched the reckless boatmen. Twenty feet from the whales
the boat had not slackened its pace, nor altered its course. And then, all of a sudden, it was among the deep sea denizens. There were hoarse cries from the shore.

Ten minutes later the shore-folk looked on in surprise upon the countenances of many. As the launch moved among the whales its occupants began hauling in their lines,
and almost as fast as they could pull them into the boat, came the big silver salmon.

These boatmen and the whales knew where the run was best. And killer whales, despite their ferocious name, will not harm a boat unless they are first molested.

The consequence was that the boatmen had caught all the fish
they wanted before their more inexperienced and ignorant fellow fishermen had got a fair start.

Incidentally, Sunday saw the biggest run of salmon from Brentwood waters in many years, and in many years past. The biggest fish,
a forty-five pounder, was landed by
S. P. Moody, who, with a friend, occupied the boat.

PUSHING CLAIMS OF B.C. LUMBER

Agent-General in London Tells Chamber of Commerce of Efforts

Britain Too Conservative For Extensive Frame Building Plan

Arguments advanced by F. C.
Wade, Agent-General for British Columbia in England, advocating the use of wooden house construction and the great shortage of housing in the Old Country, have been listened to but conservative England has not yet adopted the policy on any scale
although some have been heard and various parts of the country, the Agent-General says in a letter read at the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon.

The letter is in reply to one sent following the suggestions advanced by A. J. Watson at a recent meeting of the directors that Victoria should make every effort to secure some of the business that would result from Great Britain's plan to build 2,500,000 homes, 50,000 of which will be erected in the first year of operations.

The directors pointed out that in view of advantageous conditions of the lumber industry in British Columbia and the ability of the Province to supply enormous quantities of the very best grade B.C.
Douglas fir, the British Government might be induced to give every consideration to British Columbia timber.

TESTS HELP B.C.

Strenuous efforts have been made to obtain recognition for B.C. timbers in Great Britain, Mr. Wade stated. Three years ago he persuaded the H.M. Office of Works to make tests on B.C. woods in comparison with the Baltic woods largely used there. The tests resulted in the adoption of British Columbia timbers as greatly superior to the Baltic product. He had repeatedly appeared before housing committees advocating the use of wooden houses to overcome the great shortage of housing. Mr. Wade also pointed

ENEMY SEX IS VERY UNUSUAL STORY WITH MOST STARTLING TITLE IN FILM PRODUCTION

Betty Compson Featured in Strong Cast on Dominion Screen This Week in Latest Paramount Picture by Cruze

Three rakes, a married judge and a young man on the verge of delirium tremens forms the unpromising material from which "Dodo" Baxter, the heroine of James Cruze's latest production for Paramount, "The Enemy Sex," is asked to select a husband.

Featuring Betty Compson with a strong cast which includes Percy Marmont, Kathryn Williams, Huntly Gordon and De Witt Jennings, "The Enemy Sex" is a story of New York life as it appears to a young girl from the country. Armed only with wit and beauty which combine to give her strong sex appeal, Dodo Baxter plays such a clever game with a group of men that she puzzles even their worldly-wise minds.

The role of Dodo is particularly well suited to Betty Compson. Percy Marmont is cast as "Dodo's" Lindaberry, who is drinking himself to death. Huntly Gordon appears as "Judge Massingale" and Kathryn Williams as "Mrs. Massingale." De Witt Jennings is cast as "Harrigan Blood." Sheldon Lewis plays the role of "Sassoon."

"Sassoon, Blood and Massingale attend a private dinner given for a group of chorus girls. They discover that Dodo is an entirely different type to the others and each begins to pay her attentions. Sassoon and Blood are interested in her solely because she is a girl who remains unconquered. Massingale, however, falls genuinely in love with her. She reciprocates his affection, discovering, too late, that he is married.

In a thoroughly reckless mood she goes for a wild motor ride with Garry Lindaberry who is drunk; as usual. They have a narrow escape from death. Out of this situation comes a half promise on Dodo's part to marry Garry if he reforms. A theatre magnate joins the others in their pursuit of Dodo and with all five spreading nets, Dodo cleverly turns their forces to her own account. In the end, she selects the only one of the five who is worth while.

"The Enemy Sex" has many situations which are unusually dramatic and exciting. The dinner given by a group of wealthy men to chorus girls leads up to a trap which one of the men sets for Dodo who lures her to a private dining-room. Only her quick wit saves her. The wild automobile ride which Dodo takes with Lindaberry is one of the

Music Lovers' Night at Capitol Set For To-night

A surprise musical programme has been arranged for music lovers' night at the Capitol to-night. The numbers to be rendered during the evening will comprise all classes of music in addition to the especially selected numbers to be rendered during the feature picture, "Twenty-One," featuring Richard Barthelmess.

In addition to this the management have engaged the Kedon trio. This trio is composed of two pianists and one violinist. These artists have just arrived from Russia, where in the old days they were a musical sensation. This part of the entertainment will take place both afternoon and evening, and there is no doubt will cause more than favorable comment from the music critics of this city as attractions of this kind very seldom visit Victoria.

Some of the numbers to be rendered during the evening are as follows:

Dominion—"The Enemy Sex."
Pantalone—"The Custard Cup." Playhouse—"The Girl on the Film."
Columbia—"The Rendezvous."

Shows Russian Peasant Life As it Really is

Marshall Neilan Depicts True
Rural Life, as Shown in
"The Rendezvous"

A pig for a wedding present—that's perhaps what you'd get and be mighty thankful for, if you happened to be a Russian peasant, according to Marshall Neilan, motion picture director, who delved into Russian life, past and present, and made several startling discoveries for his latest drama, "The Rendezvous," which has been booked for three days at the Columbia Theatre, beginning to-day. Russian peasant life as it is lived, and as it is of times pictured, are not one and the same, says Mickey.

For instance, the picturesque silver bell which hangs on the yoke of their horses is not primarily for decoration. In the summertime the roads become so dusty it is necessary to have the bell to give warning of an approaching vehicle.

Nor is the wreath of leaves worn by the peasant brides to enhance their charms, but to signify the chastity of the maiden as she goes to the altar. Even the manner of draping the shawl on the head is not for beauty, but to tell whether a woman is married or single. If single the shawl is simply thrown over the head, hanging straight at the sides; if married, the shawl is draped and caught with a pin at the back of the head. The hair is also combed to denote a woman's marital status.

The respected citizens of a village are those who can read. A town is indeed fortunate if it has one citizen who can decipher the news from a paper which strays in occasionally. A newspaper is an event, and immediately after church the lowly townsfolk gather about the "reader," whom they rather idolize, and squatting on their haunches, chewing and spitting in all directions, they listen to the news. News is oftentimes transported by pictures drawn on freight cars in chalk. As the cars move through the villages, the peasants glean the latest happenings of the Soviet or whatever government is in power.

Wesley Barry Stars In "The Country Kid" On Screen

Rolling Story of Merriment With Freckled Boy Starring
in Good Company

"The Country Kid," starring Wesley Barry, opened for a week's run at the Theatre to-day. With three boys like Wesley Barry, "Spec" O'Donnell and "Baby" Bruce Guerin how could any picture be anything else but a hit and "The Country Kid" is no exception. The entire picture is truthfully and strongly characterized by sincere and unaffected acting.

What a happy little family they make, the three Applegate boys, Ben the oldest, Joe and Andy, as they sit down to a plain but substantial breakfast. The fact that there is little between them and destitution does not seem to interfere with their appetites in the least.

Ben is at once father and mother to his orphan brothers, and it is a long grim fight that the young fellow must put up to keep intact the old home and impoverished farm that shelters them.

Days pass and the Summer nears its end with the poor Applegate boys doing very badly. In the meantime, their uncle and guardian, a grasping and heartless man, eagerly waits for an opportunity to get the boys out of the way so that he may buy the farm for himself at a price considerably less than its real value.

He decides that it would be a good stroke of business to ship off Joe and Andy to the orphanage, and save the expense of a hired man by forcing Ben to work for him. Then the road would be clear for him to get the farm.

But Dame Fortune does not wish it so. And the scenes remaining show how Ben works out the salvation of his little family. Wesley Barry is admirably supported by Kate Tonera, Helen Jerome Eddy, George Nichols, Edward Burns and George C. Pearce. The story was written for the screen by Julien Josephson and directed by William Beaudine. It is a Warner Brothers picture.

BARTHELMESS, STAR OF SILENT DRAMA, IS ADMIRABLY CAST IN SCREEN OFFERING "TWENTY-ONE"

After Demonstrating His Versatile Talents in Period Costume
Plays, Popular Actor Returns in Modern Story Now at Capitol

Richard Barthelmess, returning to the screen in a modern story after demonstrating his versatile talents in two period costume dramas, adds another triumph to his collection of cinematic successes with "Twenty-One," which began an engagement at the Capitol Theatre to-day.

"Twenty-One" is a delightful story of the present day, being an adaptation of the novel, "Wild Apples," written by Grace McGowan Cook and Alice McGowan. Never was Barthelmess better cast than he is in this production as Julian McCullough, nineteen-year-old youth who rebels at his mother's social ambitions and her misguided efforts to make a mollycoddle of him and finds pleasure in the company of a little factory girl, Lymnie Willis.

Julian and Lymnie find themselves forced to spend the night at a break-down of the car in which they are riding home from a dance, they

Julian had made to Lymnie only serves to strengthen the evidence against them.

But when Lymnie's father demands that Julian marry the girl and Julian shows an eager readiness to do so, then the real trouble begins. Julian's wealthy parents object.

To get away from their influence he leaves for New York, it being his determination to keep in hiding until he is of age, so that he may wed the girl without danger of annulment of the marriage. In the city he finds work as a taxicab driver and plenty of romance and adventure. There is a powerful denouement when Julian out-wits the plot of a gang of automobile thieves to rob his father, and for his trouble the boy is stabbed, but this wound serves to bring a most happy culmination to the story.

The photoplay, well directed and enacted, is crammed full of action and there are many interesting as well as colorful situations, including a Czech-Slovakian dance with the dancers in their picturesque native costumes. It affords the picture-going public some of the best entertainment that has been offered this season.

John S. Robertson directed "Twenty-One" and the scenario was prepared by Josephine Lovett, Dorothy Mackall, who delighted screen audiences with her work opposite Barthelmess in his last First National picture, "The Fighting Blade," is even better as his leading lady in this one.

THREE CHINESE GIRLS ARRIVE TO TRAIN AS NURSES

Accompany the Rockefeller Foundation Representative to J. Hopkins University

Three dainty Chinese maidens accompanied Dr. Dwight C. Sloan and his family to America, debarking yesterday afternoon from the liner Empress of Asia in Victoria and proceeding later to Seattle.

Dr. Sloan, who is the medical superintendent of the hospital attached to the College at Peking conducted in conjunction with the Rockefeller Foundation, is on his way to the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va., and his charges will enter John Hopkins University, Baltimore, for the purpose of training as nurses.

The doctor speaks of useful work being done by the medical fraternity in Peking, as well as in North and Central China, and the training of graduates for medical work in other parts of China at Peking. The first three graduates to complete their course passed out of college this year, and as the hospital is affiliated to a university in New York State, they rank with graduates of recognized medical colleges in the United States. Special attention is to be given to educational work bearing on medical research, Dr. Sloan stated.

There is a heavy demand for trained Chinese medical students, and in that field alone opportunities for the development of young China abound, he explained to The Times.

ARRIVES TO TAKE NEW APPOINTMENT

Bishop MacGinley to Organize New Diocese in California

Eagerly awaiting a welcome in Seattle from Cardinal Denis Dougherty, Bishop John B. MacGinley, Catholic Bishop of Manila for the past ten years, arrived on the liner President Grant yesterday morning from the Orient.

Bishop MacGinley was accompanied to Seattle when he sailed for his post a decade ago from Philadelphia by the cardinal, who then had not reached his present eminence, the bishop having formerly been a parish priest in that city. Now the cardinal, accompanied by a number of clergy will accompany Dr. MacGinley to the ceremony of his consecration as the first bishop of the new diocese of Monterey-Fresno, California.

Dr. MacGinley reported steady progress in the diocese during his residence in the Philippines, in a chat with The Times on board the steamer.

WILL SEEK VALLEY DESCRIBED HERE

Major and Mrs. Gooch to Find Frank Perry's Verdant Paradise

Major and Mrs. Gooch of Crawford Bay will leave in a few weeks for the most northerly portion of British Columbia, according to The Edmonton Bulletin. They will endeavor to locate the valley of hot springs close to the Yukon boundary where the grass is said to remain green all the year.

A report of this valley was brought to the "outside" by Frank Perry, the well known mining engineer of Vancouver, and first published in an interview with The Times, though the exclusive publication has since been claimed elsewhere.

ACCOUNT ASTONISHING

Perry has lived alone in the Far North—in entirely unknown territory—for seventeen years; he traveled with nothing but a single pack dog, a rifle, a copy of a geological treatise, and made a number of wonderful discoveries—mineral and otherwise. For years at a time he never saw a living person, Indian or white, and on his return to civilization brought out an astonishing account of the wonders to be encountered.

In the valley Mr. Perry claimed that due to the number of hot springs, the temperature was an even one the whole year around that the animals having their habitat there were so fat they could not move faster than a walk, while the vegetation was described as abnormal, with shrubs growing to the size of trees, and black loam soil forty and more feet deep. He also claims to have seen the bones of mastodons protruding from the cliffs, and the sandstones marked with the impress of three-toed prehistoric animals.

IS IN POWER BY STRONG ARM WAY

Professor From Canton Not Hopeful of Much Advance in South China

That Dr. Sun Yat Sen is endeavoring to reconcile theoretical republicanism with a military power is the statement of Professor H. C. Brown, of the faculty of history in Canton Christian College, who arrived here yesterday morning on the liner President Grant from China.

Professor Brown, who has been seventeen years in South China, and is on his way home by the Canadian National Railways to Burlington, Vermont, stated to The Times that the southern president appeared to be "disinterested, hard working and zealous," but that he was only able to maintain himself in power over a portion of Canton Province by the same method adopted by the tuchans of the other provinces of China, namely, by paying a standing force of a military character to overawe opposition, drawn from Yunnanese soldiery.

Relations of Kwantung Province with the Central Government, he stated, were practically limited to the funds administered by foreigners for the protection of foreign creditors, and so all intents and purposes the south was quite distinct from the north politically.

It is five years since his last furlough, and he said he could see little improvement in the meantime.

In hospital a patient was put on a diet of eggs and port. When the doctor asked him how he liked his daily fare, he replied: "It would be all right, doctor, if the eggs were as new as the port and the port as old as the eggs."

TEACHER-BRIDE TAKES HONEYMOON ON THE PACIFIC

Three teachers associated with the Canadian Academy at Kobe arrived on the liner Empress of Asia yesterday afternoon.

One of them was a bride, Mrs. A. C. Bradley, formerly Miss Dorothea C. Ayres, who just before sailing was married to Mr. Bradley, physical director at the Y.M.C.A. at Kobe. They will make their home in the United States.

Miss Helen MacGregor, science and mathematics teacher at the Canadian Academy during the past school year, is returning to her home in Toronto. She expects to take graduate work at the University of Toronto during the coming school year.

Mrs. Cecil Wilson, also of the Canadian Academy, whose husband is connected with the editorial staff of The Osaka Mainichi, English edition, is returning on vacation.

Miss G. Work, a teacher at Kwansai Gakuin, is also home-bound.

Miss Ruth Erskine, who was graduated at the Canadian Academy this year, is going to the United States to enter an American University in the Fall.

SCIENTISTS WILL MEET AT TORONTO

Invitation of University of Toronto Accepted, For August Conventions

The ninety-fourth annual gathering of the British Association for the Advancement of Science will convene on August 6-13 next at Toronto, at the invitation of the University of Toronto and the Royal Canadian Institute. Previous meetings held in Canada include one at Winnipeg in 1909, Toronto in 1896, and Montreal in 1884.

The convention will be the occasion for the visit of several hundred of the leading scientists of the British Empire and a distinguished list of visitors from the United States and Europe. Co-incident will be the convening of the International Mathematical Congress, which too will draw hundreds of notable visitors from all corners of the world.

Ottoman Merchants Pass Through to Canadian Rockies

Two Ottoman subjects, J. and D. Cohen of Constantinople, reached here yesterday afternoon on the liner Empress of Asia. These brothers, who were born of Spanish parents in the Turkish capital, belong to a firm of well-known diamond merchants and are now on their way to Antwerp, the diamond market of the world.

Mr. J. Cohen spoke in very optimistic vein regarding the future of Turkey, whose government, in his opinion, is becoming more stabilized and alive to the needs of the day. The lack of foreign capital is, of course, keeping Turkey back industrially, Mr. Cohen explained, but as her government improves the confidence of other nations will be bound to grow. At present the lack of industries in Turkey prevents the possibility of Bolshevism, apart from the fact that the Government has on more than one occasion demonstrated its aversion to Soviet principles. For this reason, Mr. Cohen said, Armenia is being forced into a position of friendliness towards Turkey as the only alternative to subjugation by Bolshevik Russia.

Mr. Cohen and his young brother will spend some time at Banff and Lake Louise en route to Montreal.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Skipping Rope

(Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

(By Howard R. Garis)
Uncle Wiggily groaned and groaned as he hopped out of bed in his hollow stump bungalow one morning. He murmured with pain as he sat down to the breakfast table and ate his lettuce pancake with cabbage gravy poured down the middle.

"What's the matter with you?" asked Nurse Jane Pussycat Wussy. "Rheumatism!" groaned the rabbit gentleman. "I have the rheumatism."

"Uncle Wiggily!" she cried.

something dreadful—it's in my pink, twinkling nose, too! I'm going to see Dr. Possum."

When the animal doctor had made Uncle Wiggily stick out his tongue, and when he had punched him in the back and tickled him in the ribs, Dr. Possum said:

"You must get yourself a skipping rope, Uncle Wiggily, and jump. That will cure your rheumatism."

"What's that? Get me a skipping rope?" You mean a jumping rope such as the little girls use, jumping salt, pepper, vinegar, and the like of that?" cried the rabbit, in surprise.

"That's what I mean," said Dr. Possum. "If you will jump about and skip rope you will get well."

"I'll do it!" cried Uncle Wiggily. So he bought himself a skipping rope and began flinging it over his head and jumping as it came around to his feet. Up and down in front of his bungalow Uncle Wiggily skipped rope, and soon some of his rheumatic pain began to go away.

"I feel better already," he said with a laugh. Just then Nurse Jane came around the corner and saw Mr. Longears skipping the rope.

"Uncle Wiggily!" she cried. "Uncle Wiggily!" Have you taken leave of your senses? You had better see Dr. Possum again, for you must be going crazy!"

"Why? What's the matter?" asked the poor bunny gentleman. "I'm not doing anything except taking the medicine Dr. Possum told me to."

"Medicine?" cried Nurse Jane. "You're skipping rope like a six-year-old girl! Do you call that medicine?"

"Of course I do!" answered the rabbit. "Dr. Possum told me to jump rope to cure my rheumatism."

"The idea! I think you're trying to make a joke on me!" said Nurse Jane. "I won't have it, Wiggily! The idea! An old rabbit gentleman like you skipping rope where all the neighbors can see you! I won't have it! Give me that rope!"

She reached for it, but Uncle Wiggily jumped away. Nurse Jane ran after him to take the rope from him. "But I must jump rope!" said poor Uncle Wiggily, hopping as fast as he could to keep ahead of his muskrat lady housekeeper, who was very prim and proper. "Let me alone, Nurse Jane—please!"

"No! No!" she squeaked. "You mustn't jump rope at your age! The neighbors will laugh at you! Give me that rope!"

But Uncle Wiggily wouldn't! On he ran as fast as he could hop, and Nurse Jane kept after him. All of a sudden the muskrat lady stumbled and fell in the brook.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Help me! Help me!" she cried. Though she was a muskrat and a good swimmer, still, with all her dresses on she was almost drowning.

"Here! Catch hold of the end of this!" cried Uncle Wiggily, flinging his skipping rope to Nurse Jane. She took hold of one end in her paws. Uncle Wiggily pulled on the other end and soon he had hauled Miss Pussycat Wussy out of the brook. "It's a good thing I had my skipping rope or I never could have gotten you out," he said as Nurse Jane went in the bungalow to dry out.

"Yes," she answered, "thank you, Wiggily. You may skip rope as much as you please and I'll never say a word. Let the neighbors laugh if they like." But the neighbors didn't laugh to see the bunny jumping rope, for they were fond of him. And soon his rheumatism was cured.

And if the police dog doesn't give the movies with the fireman's cat when he ought to be chasing the runaway dog, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's umbrella tent.

PARROT TALKED TOO MUCH.—Polly, family parrot in the Simon Silverberg household at Baltimore, became an important witness in Mrs. Silverberg's suit for separation from her husband. Mrs. Silverberg (shown above) had been away on a visit and, upon her return, found the parrot shrieking the name of "Cora." Now Mrs. Silverberg's name happens to be Rose, and she became suspicious. She won her court action.

ALMOST SAVED BY GIRL.—Edgar M. Smith, manager of the Elmvale branch of the Bank of Toronto, who died in the arms of sixteen-year-old Margaret Murchison of Barrie, Ont., after she had pulled him out of the water three times in a drowning fatality at Lake Simcoe, in which the third member of the party, Wilbur Hoskins, also met his death. The girl was the only one of the three to survive the terrible experience of clinging three days and nights to a drifting canoe in stormy waters. She was finally picked up almost unconscious.

STOCKS STRONG IN TO-DAY'S SESSION

New York, July 21 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—To-day's market was broad active and strength was manifest from start to finish. Closing prices in most issues were at the best prices of the day. The trading was well distributed and public buying power was more of a factor in to-day's elevation in values. The tenor of advice touching on the doings abroad with respect to the political situation were viewed in a more reassuring way, and quite naturally had a stimulating effect on the demand for copper groups. In addition an analysis of the statistical data of copper metal makes it appear that the industry is undoubtedly resting on a stronger foundation than for some time. Analysts point out that copper consumption is running very large and surplus stocks are decreasing. We think this will undoubtedly lead to a gradual stiffening of prices for the red metal and very near future the market will be better than it has been for some time. We think that the copper industry may be entering a period of greater prosperity, a thing which has been absent in the past. The line of business, with of course the South American producing companies as an exception, oil production in the form of a falling off as compared to the month of May. The new high oil prices have been a factor in the found prosperity in the agricultural region now observable and undoubtedly in the making, is beginning to exert its good effect on general trade, and should have a more pronounced effect in the near future. We think that this is a period of rising prices in the stock market.

GRAINS ACTIVE IN CHICAGO TO-DAY

Chicago, Ills., July 21 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat. Action on wheat market today is likely to be nervous. For the time being trade will be cautious on buying side, possible development showing whether or not the Canadian crop shows much improvement, and as to how keen the demand is for the increasing of winter wheat. The market is certainly will depend on how active the export trade is. Visible stocks should increase from now on for some time. Kansas City reports active buying there by all interests, with premium half to one cent higher. Gulf prices were selling for export, but business was slow. Liverpool continues strong. The market temporarily is on a debatable ground pending developments as outlined above, but the fundists are still very much in favor of the bulls. Consequently while we expect a two-sided market, prefer the buying side if advantage is taken of the setback to make quick buying turns.

Corn: Higher temperatures and better weather generally, with larger receipts and a slack market, has put considerable pressure on corn. The primary receipts are running larger and receivers look for a fair run of corn which may take the edge off the buying demand for September temporarily. Local stocks, however, decreased 368,000 bushels, with a decrease in visible of 1,758,000 bushels. The market as in wheat is two-sided. Oats: The cash demand was fair with sales of 60,000 bushels. To store sales were 16,000 bushels and local stocks decreased 57,000 bushels, with the total here only 415,000 bushels. Market will make its cue largely from other grains.

Rye—Not very aggressive for rye, and the market was heavy. The cash demand was fair, but receipts also quite good at fifty-one cars. Visible decreased 1,061,000 bushels. Rye is extremely cheap compared with wheat.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING IS HELD

Shawnigan School Makes Progress; Board of Trade

Special to The Times
Shawnigan Lake, July 21.—The annual school meeting of the Shawnigan School was well attended and keen interest was taken in school affairs. Dr. Lewis Hall, president of the board of trustees, presided over the meeting, and S. J. Head, secretary, reported on the progress made during the year.

The new lodge was completed for its high standing and a bright future lies before it. The officers of the lodge are: Master, Geoffrey Yates; Senior Warden, J. H. Butler; Junior Warden, R. Cummins; Treasurer, James Finlay; Secretary, E. M. Walbank; Chaplain, J. J. H. Daly; Master of Ceremonies, Col. F. T. Oldham; Senior Deacon, E. H. Clark; Junior Deacon, E. Sherringham; Stewards, R. Dick and J. C. Wright; I.D., H. D. Twist; Tyler, J. Ford.

The services of the Cowichan district nurse was again provided for. The Women's Institute had taken a keen interest in school matters. For one thing they had provided hot cocoa for the children during the winter months, and in many ways added to the comfort of the children. Odo A. Barry, the principal of the school, sent in his resignation, which was received with general regret. Mr. Barry has been associated with the school for two years. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the trustees.

MALAHAT LODGE OF MASONS BEGINS AT SHAWNIGAN

Special to The Times
Shawnigan Lake, July 20.—Shawnigan now ranks with the larger communities with a fully constituted lodge of the Masonic craft. On Wednesday evening the impressive ceremony of full constitution was performed and Malahat Lodge No. 107 became an accomplished fact. Never before in the history of Shawnigan has such a large gathering of men high in the craft been assembled, and members of Malahat Lodge keenly appreciate the honor conferred. Grand Master Stephen Jones accompanied by Deputy Grand Master A. M. Manson, Grand Senior Deacon W. P. Marchant and District Deputy S. MacInn, assisted by other gentlemen, high in the craft, performed the ceremonies connected with the constitution. Past grand officers from various parts of the

YOUR FIRST ALPINE COLLECTION
Twenty-five Plants With Which the Amateur May Start His Rock Garden; Some Hints on How to Grow Them

By JOHN HUTCHISON, F.R.H.S.

Even in a very small rock garden accommodation may be found for a much larger number of different plants than most people realize; but the wise beginner in this fascinating hobby will do well to confine himself at first to a small selection of really beautiful flowers. It is equally wise to secure at least three plants of each variety as the most satisfactory for the amateur to cultivate in the beginning.

Alyssum Saxatile. The common name for this is "Gold Dust," and a very appropriate name it is, for when in flower, in May and June, the whole plant is a mass of feathery, rich gold. It lives for many years and makes a plant a yard across. It likes poor soil, enjoys lime and needs full sunshine.

Androsace Langueuse. As a family the Androsace (Rock Jasmines) have the reputation of being hard to grow, but this lovely Himalayan species is comparatively easy. It likes gritty soil in full sun, a deep root run and a slope down which to trail. The leaves are silky and the flowers, which appear in summer, are rosy-lilac.

Anemone Pulsatilla (the Pasque flower). A native of the Canadian prairies, it forms a stout clump of leaves with fern-like leaves and beautiful purple flowers in the early spring. The seed heads, which form later, are also very attractive.

Arenaria Montana (The Mountain Sandwort). It is easy to grow in any light soil in full sun or slight shade. Trailing in habit it is covered in early summer with thousands of white flowers. An old plant will occupy a square yard.

ALPINE ASTERS
Aster Alpinus (The Alpine Aster). A tufted plant which throws up six inch stems in June, each surmounted with one great daisy-like flower of violet with an orange disk. It grows on the flat.

Aubrietia Dr. Mules. If only one Aubrietia can be grown this is a splendid one to have. It is rich purple and very compact in its habit.

Campanula Carpathica (The Carpathian Bell Flower). A fine tufted campanula with stems about nine inches tall, bearing violet, cup-shaped bells. Ordinary soil in sun on the flat suits it best.

Campanula Muralis. A trailing plant which is evergreen and which produces a mass of tiny purple flowers in late spring. It is a fine plant for a rock garden.

Campanula Pusilla. Miss Wilmet. A beautiful dwarf hairbell which covers itself with flowers of a beautiful silvery-blue. This plant may safely be placed among the six best Alpines.

Dianthus Deltoideus (The Maiden Pink). Very easy to grow and very showy, covering large patches, which in summer are rich with hundreds of bright pink flowers.

A GLORIOUS BLUE
Gentiana Acaulis (The Gentianella). The most glorious blue in the garden world. With some people it flowers quite readily, with others it refuses to flower at all. It likes stiff loam.

Geranium Sanguineum Lancastriense. A beautiful and easily grown plant. It is a creeping growth, huge ging the rocks, and has apple-blossom pink flowers.

Gypsophila Repens. A splendid trailing plant with pinkish flowers. It is hidden by the flowers when in full bloom.

Helianthemum (Sun or Rock Rose) A splendid trailing plant which may be had in many colors. The flowers, which last only for a day, are produced in tremendous profusion over a long period in summer.

Iberis (Evergreen Candytuft). Forms a rounded bush, covered in spring with countless heads of pure white flowers.

Lithospermum Prostratum. Probably the best trailing blue flower for the rock garden. Its color rivals that of the Gentian. It does not like lime in any form.

Subulata, G. F. Wilson. A creeping phlox of great merit which spreads into a large plant and is covered in June with lilac-blue flowers.

A FINE TRAILER
Saponaria Ocyroides (Soapwort). A trailer which in a couple of years will cover two yards of ground in a rounded cushion. In spring it is one mass of small bright pink flowers. It likes full sun and lime and as a first class wall plant.

Saxifraga Alizon Rosea. The Alizon Saxifrage are perhaps the most thrifty of the encrusted section. It is perhaps the best of the alizon. It forms compact colonies of leathery leaves with silver edges and in June throws up nine-inch stems of pale pink flowers. It likes full sun, good drainage and plenty of lime.

Saxifraga Cotyledon Pyramidalis. This is the tallest and most gigantic form of the encrusted section. It has large rosettes with silver edges and throws up huge plumes, sometimes three feet long, covered with white flowers. The plumes arch in a most graceful manner and to get the best effect the plant should be placed in a horizontal position.

MOUNDS OF GREEN
Saxifraga Bathoniensis. This is one of the best of the mossy section. The leaves form mounds of mossy green and the flowers, which are produced in May and June, are deep pink. This section of Saxifraga likes a little shade and the flowers hold their color much better than in full sun.

Silene Alpestris (Alpine Catchfly). A charming dwarf plant which runs freely, forming a mat of glossy green and producing star-shaped flowers of pure white on three-inch stems. It likes to ramble among rocks in gritty soil.

Tunica Saxifraga. This forms a tuft of short grass-like foliage and produces in late summer a mass of very slender branched stems, with a cloud of tiny pink gypsophila-like flowers. It comes into flower after most of the Alpine blossoms are over, which makes it very valuable.

Veronica Teucrium. Quite an indispensable trailer and a rampant grower, flourishing in almost any soil or aspect except in deep shade. It forms a close evergreen carpet and is sheeted over in summer with deep blue flowers on short stems. It is a common plant but one of the very best.

Viola Gracilis (Grecian Pansy). A superb dwarf viola, close, compact and evergreen. It flowers almost all through the spring, summer and fall, from March until September. The flowers are of a very distinct and graceful shape and are of the deepest Tyrian purple. It is thrifty in strong loam but does not do so well in poor soil. The whole plant, leaves and flowers, is scented like a violet.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th meridian west. It is counted from 9 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

EMPEROR OF ASIA SHATTERS RUSSIA'S RECORD AND ONLY FOUR HOURS BEHIND CANADA

Makes Trip From Yokohama to William Head in 8 Days 14 Hours and 48 Minutes; Comes Within Four Hours of World Record Held by Empress of Canada; Averaged 20.2 Knots an Hour; Also Makes One Day Record; $5,000,000 Silk Cargo Was Incentive

RECORD CROSSINGS OF NORTH PACIFIC

Empress of Canada—8 days 10 hours 9 minutes.
Empress of Asia—8 days 14 hours 48 minutes.
Empress of Russia—8 days 18 hours 23 minutes.
President Grant—9 days one hour.

Smashing the Empress of Russia's record and coming within four hours of the Empress of Canada's time, which is the present best record for the North Pacific run, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, Capt. L. D. Douglas, R.D., R.N.R., completed the fastest trip she has made from the Orient since she was placed in commission eleven years ago. She at the same time proved that only the installation of oil burners is required to put her in the same class as the Empress of Canada as far as speed is concerned. Capt. Douglas is justly proud of the vessel's new record, which is 8 days 14 hours and 48 minutes from Kannonaki to Race Rocks.

In breaking the Russia's time the Empress of Asia broke the record for the transpacific run, while she fully demonstrated her capabilities with regard to speed in docking just five hours behind the liner President Grant, which left Yokohama fully twenty-one hours ahead.

Not only did the Asia break the Russia's and her own record, but she also created a one-day record while en route, traveling 477 knots in one calendar day.

PROUD OF LINER
Asked what he thought of the trip, Chief Engineer R. H. Shaw replied: "I am proud of the ship. Her engines hit on all six. They are tuned up well and as good as new. I have worked on this liner eleven years and have never before witnessed such speed. However, she is capable of twenty-one knots, and I expect her to do it one of these days."

It is the general opinion of the engineering staff that if the vessel were provided with oil burners she would be able at least to give the Empress of Canada a fairly good race for the next record.

VESSEL'S SPEED
Completing the trip in 8 days 14 hours and 48 minutes, the Empress of Asia averaged 20.2 knots an hour while during the day in which she broke the one-day record she averaged 26.3 knots an hour. The trip day by day for the 4,178-mile journey from Kannonaki to Race Rocks is as follows: First day, 472 knots; second, 483 knots; third, 469 knots; fourth, 466 knots; fifth, 468 knots; sixth, 468 knots; seventh, 477 knots; eighth, 471 knots, and the remaining hours 445 knots.

The liner left Yokohama noon on July 12 and arrived at William Head 11:05 yesterday morning. On the transpacific run the Empress of Asia broke the record held by the President Grant, which also berthed yesterday.

VALUABLE SILK CARGO
A valuable cargo of silk, estimated at $5,000,000, was the incentive on this trip. There were 4,000 bales of silk on board and this proved sufficient inducement to urge the Empress of Asia to press forward and thus break her former record. On board there were approximately 5,000 tons altogether, while for discharge there was a large tea and porcelain shipment for discharge at Vancouver while on the liner's arrival at the terminal port the silk was transferred to the special silk train awaiting it there, and is now rushing across the continent.

The Empress of Russia, which was formerly the holder of the blue ribbon for being the fastest liner on the North Pacific, but which she lost to the Empress of Canada on her first trip from the Orient, concedes her former record to the Empress of Asia, which now stands second in the list of records made on the transpacific run. The Asia, in securing second place, has reduced the Russia's time by a little less than four hours and has come within four hours of holding the world record.

VISITED COTTON PLANTATIONS OF THE SUDAN

Veteran Manufacturer Arrives on Empress
J. J. Warren Back From Oriental Tour

Cotton growing within the British Empire is a particular hobby with the veteran manufacturer, J. J. Warren, of Leeds, England, who with his daughter, arrived from the Orient yesterday on the liner Empress of Asia. For forty-eight years Mr. Warren has been traveling to various parts of the world, introducing modern machinery, and has just visited the Sudan, where he celebrated his seventieth birthday.

"The Sudan grows the best cotton in the world," Mr. Warren said, "but owing to lack of irrigation facilities it will be impossible for her to increase her annual production. The manufacturing cities of England are starving for cotton, and with the United States consuming five-eighths of her own production it is time the British Empire endeavored to encourage this industry within her own domains."

There were 350 cabin passengers on this trip, while traveling stowage there were 200. Prominent among the cabin passengers were M. A. Taylor, San Francisco representative of E. C. Horns Company, who is returning from a business trip in Japan.
